

One-Liner Dad Jokes

I have a joke about chemistry, but I don't think it will get a reaction.

Singing in the shower is fun until you get soap in your mouth.
Then it's a soap opera.

People say they pick their nose, but I was born with mine.

I heard it was a terrible summer for Humpty Dumpty, but apparently he had a great fall.

I used to play piano by ear. Now I use my hands.

I used to have a fear of speed bumps, but I'm slowly getting over it.

I don't trust those trees. They seem kind of shady.

I don't trust stairs. They're always up to something.

If a child refuses to nap, are they guilty of resisting a rest?

I used to hate facial hair...but then it grew on me.

Be careful in the grass—it's full of blades!

I saw two row boats get into an argument the other day. It was quite an oar-deal.

I had to get a neck brace last year and I haven't looked back since.

It takes guts to be an organ donor.

I saw a cheese factory explode once—da-brie was everywhere.

I'm so good at sleeping, I could do it with my eyes closed!

Mountains aren't just funny. They're hill areas.

I have a joke about pizza, but it's a little cheesy.

I had a bad sausage at dinner last night. It was the wurst.

I wouldn't buy anything with velcro. It's a total rip-off.

I don't often tell dad jokes, but when I do, he always laughs.

I'm always getting sick during the week—it must be my weekend immune system.

